BY

Direction de la Sécurité Aéronautique d'État (France)

Date : 17 JUIN 2019

Signature :

Name : Général de brigade Marc de Bouvier
Airworthiness Director,

1. Despite their differences, the French and the US military airworthiness systems remain similar in terms of the safety objectives and requirements to be met.
2. Recognition, in this case, is of a company by an Authority. To achieve this recognition, DSAÉ has sent to Lockheed Martin questions related to the main airworthiness requirements. Lockheed Martin has provided answers and has presented the guidelines of its Quality Management System.
3. Based on its safety and Quality policies, its certifications AS 9100D and AS 9110C, its FAA CFR title 14 Part 21 and Part 145 approvals, its compliance with the DCMA 8210,1C, its internal process to certify its suppliers and its Quality Management System, confidence has been gained that Lockheed Martin can be considered as a company that is compliant with the main requirements of the French continuing airworthiness regulation EMAR (FR) 145 and FRA-145.
4. Thus, the certificates, tags, forms issued or provided by Lockheed Martin after performing maintenance on parts of the French C-130J or KC-130J will be accepted by DSAÉ as compliant with the essentials of the French continuing airworthiness regulations.
5. This Recognition Certificate is valid 4 years from the date of signature mentioned on the cover page of the present document.
6. This Recognition Certificate will be reviewed for the first time at least 6 months before the end date of its validity unless any significant changes are reported by Lockheed Martin to the DSAÉ before that date.
7. Lockheed Martin undertakes to inform DSAÉ immediately of any significant changes that can impact this certificate.
